

Grog: making the change

(2010)

Type: Flipchart

Description:

This resource kit has been developed to support frontline workers across many health and community services, who are working with individuals, families and communities to address alcohol misuse.

This kit contains several resources including:

- a flipchart
- 2 x DVDs
- handouts
- the Indigenous Risk Impact Screening (IRIS) tool

The kit addresses many alcohol related issues including:

- drink driving
- youth
- domestic violence
- community, family and culture
- health risks
- social issues
- alcohol related brain injury
- pregnancy

When to use this resource:

This kit can be used as an educational resource when conducting individual or group sessions with people who have problems or are at risk for problems with alcohol. It can also be used as a preventative tool for youth, and can be used as a screening tool to determine if someone has a problem that should be referred to a health professional.

The tools provided can be used together or on an individual basis, across a variety of local, rural and remote settings.
