

What do you need to know?

From August 2011 there will be new gunja laws.

- These new laws mean police can give you a Cannabis Intervention Requirement if you get busted for gunja.
- If you get busted for gunja again you may be charged.
- If you get a Cannabis Intervention Requirement you need to ring 1800 722 362 to make an appointment and attend a Cannabis Intervention Session at a health or drug and alcohol service in your area within 28 days. If you do this you won't be charged for the cannabis offence/s.
- If you don't book and attend your session within the 28 days you will be charged and you will need to go to court.
- This brochure shows you what you need to do if you are given a Cannabis Intervention Requirement.

Cannabis Intervention Requirement

What should I do if I get one?

You are given a Cannabis Intervention Requirement by Police

If police give you a Cannabis Intervention Requirement (CIR) don't ignore it. You must call and make an appointment and go to a Cannabis Intervention Session (CIS) so you don't get charged.

Book your Cannabis Intervention Session

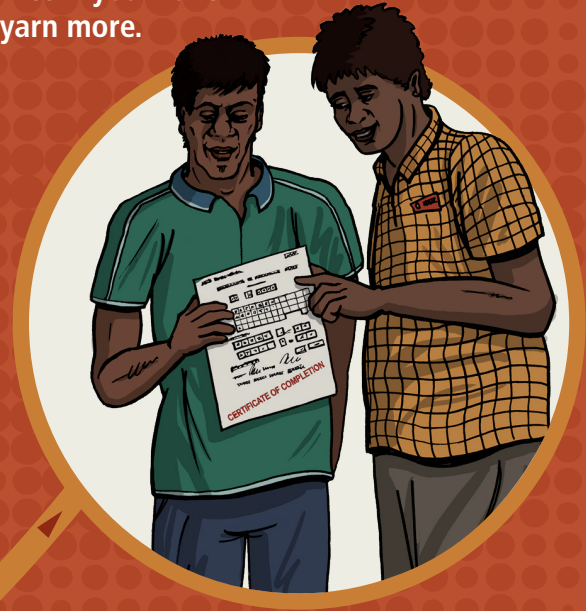

Phone:
1800 722 362

It's important to call the Cannabis Intervention Session Booking Service on 1800 722 362 as soon as you can. They will help you book your CIS at a health or drug and alcohol agency in your local area. The booking service will give you an appointment and tell you where to go to complete your CIS.

Complete your Cannabis Intervention Session

At the end you will be given a certificate to show you have completed the CIS. You, or you and your family can go back to the service if you want to yarn more.

Attend your Cannabis Intervention Session

A CIS takes about an hour. The health worker is there to support you. You can yarn about gunja, the law, your health and you can get help to make changes.

If you ignore your CIR you will be charged and have to go to court.
